Ike Blasts Jury Trial Amendment

Says Will Make Basic Purpose Of Civil Rights Bill Ineffective

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday denounced the Senate-voted jury trial amendment in the civil rights bill as a blow to "our whole judicial system."

An angrily worded statement, which press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President dictated in person, added:

"It will also make largely ineffective the basic purpose of the bill — that of protecting promptly and effectively every American in his right to vote."

This "ineffective" angle was one of those especially stressed by opponents of the jury trial amendment. They said Southern white juries would not convict in civil rights cases brought by or for Negroes. They said judges alone should handle contempt actions growing out of such cases.

Meanwhile, two top Republicans in the Senate and House—Sen. Knowland of California and Rep. Keating of New York—said it was unlikely there will be any civil rights bill at all this session of Congress.

Their view that the Senate bill cannot be combined in any Senate-House conference with the House bill, which carries no provision for a jury trial of contempt charges growing out of civil rights cases.

Keating, top Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, said the House conferees would have to stand firm in view of the 251-158 House vote against guaranteeing a jury trial.

Vote Was 51-42
The Senate voted for jury trials, 51-42.

Keating said he hoped that the 51 senators "have not ruined the chances for any bill, but I am afraid they have."

Knowland said he didn't believe the House would accept the changes made in the Senate, and said he believed the bill would wind up the year in a conference committee.

Complete Action Soon
Knowland and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, both said they thought the Senate could complete action on its greatly amended bill within a few days.

After battling down a series of other amendments by voice vote Friday, the Senate brought the bill to the stage of a final vote by having its third reading. This means no more amendments can be offered.

Federal Commission
One of the missing sections of the bill would provide for a federal commission.

Baiting Fishing Spot For Ike Irks Anglers

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — The Rhode Island League of Salt Water Anglers is angry because Newport waters are being baited to insure good fishing prospects for President Eisenhower during his vacation visit.

The league, a 3,000 member organization dedicated to the preservation of the state's salt water resources, wired the President Friday asking him to intervene in the "chumming" of Newport waters.

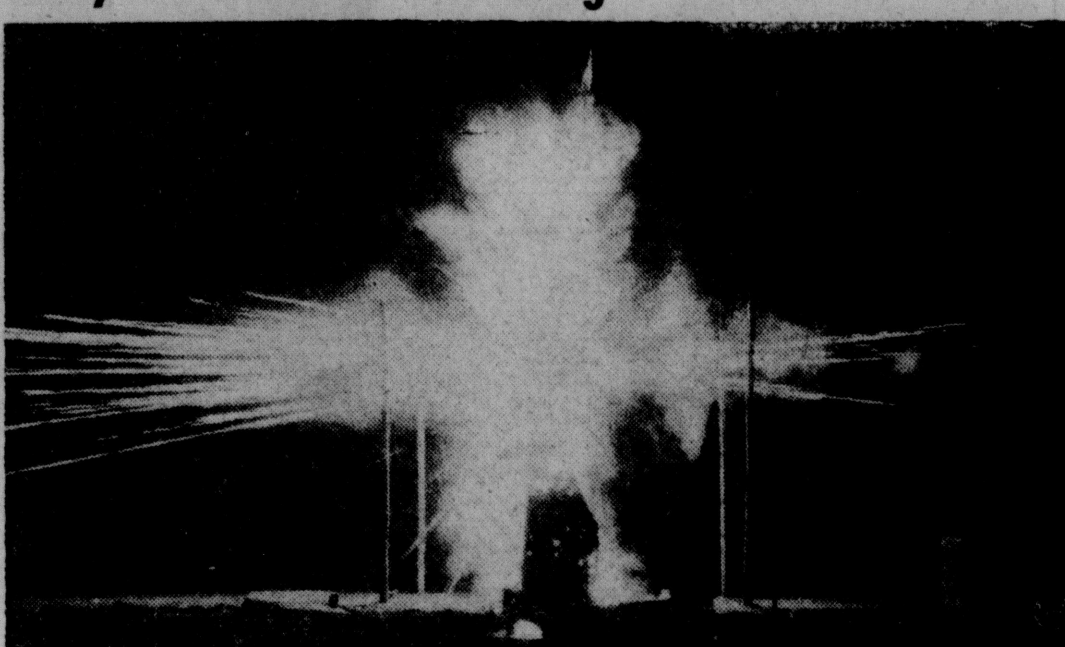

The telegram resulted from Newport Councilman George W. Lawton's disclosure that minnow fish were being scattered in the waters to attract striped bass and bluefish to spots where the President is expected to drop his line.

In the telegram the salt water anglers said "the effect of this baiting action is the loading of commercial traps in the area and causing further slaughter and depletion of game fish in Rhode Island waters."

Navy's Sidewinder Has Sting —

The Navy's guided missile, the Sidewinder, is as deadly as the desert snake for which it was named. Like the snake, it is a product of the Mohave Desert, but the similarity ends there. The Sidewinder, an air-to-air missile, built at the Naval Ordnance Test Station, China Lake, Calif., will strike only in defense of the United States. Normally the missiles are attached to a plane. The pilot releases them, and guides them onto the target. The missile may be set automatic and will home on the target it's aimed at, with a proximity fuse that goes off at the right one-thousandth of a second to kill the target. Since its development was completed last fall, it has gone to work on ships in the Mediterranean and Pacific to defend against enemy aircraft.

U.S. Announces Half-Billion Soil Bank Program For 1958

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department Friday announced a 500-million-dollar soil bank program for 1958 carrying a new regulation designed to tighten curbs on surplus crop production.

Under the major acreage reserve phase of the program, which has been in effect for the 1956 and 1957 crops, the department makes payments to farmers for planting less than their allotted acres of such surplus crops as cotton, wheat, corn, rice and tobacco.

Financial provisions for the program were contained in an Agriculture Department appropriation bill passed by Congress Thursday.

Farmers who agree to retire land from these crops will be required to limit their total harvested acreage of all crops. Those who fail to abide by such agreements would lose payments and be subject to "civil penalties" equal to half the payment they otherwise would have earned.

The requirement, set up for the first time, is designed to prevent shifting of land from the major surplus crops to other crops—a practice which, if continued, would create other surpluses and add to the total over-supply of farm products, the department said.

Under secretary of Agriculture Fred D. Morse said the new regulation should increase the effectiveness of the soil bank plan. The department announced that of the half billion dollars provided for the acreage reserve, 178 million dollars will be allotted for payments for retiring wheat land. Under this year's program, commitments were made for wheat payments totaling 231 million dollars.

Illinois Legion Raps National Commander

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois American Legion Friday criticized the public expressions of its national commander and shouted down a civil rights proposal in a busy day of voting at its 39th annual convention.

The rejected civil rights resolution called for approval by the state organization of U.S. Supreme Court rulings on racial segregation. It was rejected by a voice vote in which many delegates shouted their "noes."

Approved without debate was a resolution asking that W. C. Danahy, the legion's national commander of Danville, W. Va., refrain from "public expressions of opinions on controversial matters unless they express formal Legion opinion."

No specific comments attributed to Danahy were cited. Past statements by the commander have caused the legion "great embarrassment" and have tended to divide its membership, the resolution said.

In the future the Illinois Department would like him to comment only on policies previously established by the membership or to consult the national executive committee before talking, the resolution concluded.

The resolution was one of 78 placed before delegates in the convention's second day of business. In the stack was one described by a member of the resolutions committee as a "watered-down" version of an anti-segregation resolution introduced by Irving Breakstone of Chicago, a former State commander.

Resistance Against Batista's Rule In Cuba Increases

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Fidel Castro's rebel forces were reported to have come down from their mountain hideouts Friday for a clash with the army in the midst of creeping resistance in eastern Cuba to President Fulgencio Batista's rule.

Cuban army headquarters said a band of the rebels, who have been staging gadfly attacks for months, was encountered near Uvero on the south coast of Oriente Province, and 10 were killed. Several rebels also were captured, the army said, and a large supply of arms hidden in caves were seized.

Earlier, it was rumored that the rebel forces had clashed with army forces at Media Luna, about 25 miles south of Manzanillo in Oriente Province. Oriente is a hotbed of rebel activity.

The Batista government Thursday suspended constitutional guarantees for 45 days, and put the nation under strict military rule as a result of a general strike and growing resistance in Santiago de Cuba, capital of Oriente Province.

Similar suspension of constitutional guarantees was declared after Castro landed with a tiny invasion force last December and hid out in the rugged Maestra Mountains in the province. After repeated extensions, it was ended only last April.

The call for a general strike followed the involvement of the new U.S. ambassador, Earl E. Smith, in an incident at Santiago Tuesday.

Women, many wearing black, attempted an anti-Batista demonstration in Smith's presence while he was visiting the city. Police dispersed them with fire hoses and made many arrests while the women were shouting "freedom."

One account received by the Cuban government had it that Smith said, "Any form of excessive police action is repugnant to me" and had expressed hope the arrested women would be freed.

Several Cuban officials declared the ambassador's remarks were "improper." Informed sources

Walter George's Heart Giving Out, His Doctor Says

VIENNA, Ga. (AP) — Walter F. George's doctor said Friday the former senator's heart "is giving out."

Dr. M. L. Malloy, the 78-year-old statesman's long-time friend and physician, said, "He is running a high fever. His pulse is becoming more rapid and weaker. His heart is giving out."

Malloy, who had just left George's bedside, declined again to predict when the end might come for the man who represented Georgia in the U. S. Senate for 34 years.

George, President Eisenhower's special ambassador to NATO, has lost too much strength to battle further against the effects of a heart ailment, the doctor said.

Malloy said, "We no longer have any hope that he will rally."

Flying Glass Cuts Scores In Subway Explosion

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An electrical explosion and fire in a crowded subway train Friday knocked off a scrambling rush by passengers in which scores were cut by flying window glass.

Eighty-one persons were injured, none seriously, during the panic-filled seconds following the blast in the subway tube at the Erie avenue station of the Broad street subway.

The explosion occurred at 8:40 a.m. at the height of the morning rush hour.

The six-car northbound train jammed to the doors—was just pulling out of the station in North Philadelphia when the first of a series of loud blasts rocked the train.

The Philadelphia Transportation Co. said a grounded cable under the leading car caused the car's circuit breakers to "cut out" with several very loud reports. There also were electrical flashes and heavy smoke.

An alarm was sounded and fire engines joined the rush of ambulances to the busy intersection. There was a massive traffic jam on the surface while all service in the subway was halted.

Dulles Proposes Open Skies Plan

Inspection To Include All U.S., All Russia And Most Of Europe

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles proposed Friday that world peace inspectors roam Russia, the United States and most of Europe by plane and aground to guard against a sneak H-bomb attack.

Dulles presented this major plan for the North Atlantic Allies in a two-part proposal before the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee.

If Russia rejects it, he suggested, there could be this alternative: inspection of Arctic Circle territories plus most of the European land mass from Ireland to the Urals and Pacific territory covering the southern sections of Alaska, the Soviet Kamchatka peninsula and all the Aleutian and Kurile Islands.

Teamsters May Lead Big Builders Union Out Of AFL-CIO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The giant Teamsters Union hinted Friday it may try to lead the three-million-member Building and Construction Trades unions out of the AFL-CIO.

The move was seen as the opening gun in a drive by rising Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa to expand his influence in organized labor at the expense of such other AFL-CIO leaders as George Meany and Walter Reuther.

While vaguely worded, the Teamsters blast made it clear that the Hoffa-led faction is bent on rallying building trades unions, core of the former AFL, into outright war with the former CIO unions, in which Reuther is the dominant figure.

A press release from Teamsters headquarters said, "Teamsters delegates have decided to support a move to advise AFL-CIO President George Meany that the Building and Construction Trades Unions in industrial areas do not intend to become 'sacrificial lambs' on the altar of the merged AFL and CIO."

The Teamsters' announcement noted with approval a resolution adopted by the Detroit Building and Construction Trades Council—an organization within Hoffa's area of influence—supporting the AFL-CIO merger with the tongue-in-cheek condition that:

"We are not prepared to pay the high price tag that the ultimate (merger) product apparently now carries."

The complaint of the Detroit council, and apparently the Teamsters under Hoffa, ostensibly is the way Meany is handling the age-old problem of jurisdictional disputes. But this was believed to be a smokescreen for Hoffa to stir up a storm.

The matter is expected to come to a head at a special convention in Atlantic City Monday of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department. It is there, the Teamsters press release said, that their union's delegates are prepared to support the Detroit council's resolution.

WOMAN PATS BURGLAR NOT HER CAT

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Mattie Sanders, 72, reached under her bed early Friday morning to stroke what she thought was her cat. She found she was patting a burglar's leg.

Mrs. Sanders yelled for her nephew, Chester Gilbert, 53, who grappled with the intruder but lost him. The man escaped with $400 in cash and checks which Mrs. Sanders had put in a strong box under her bed.

Describing the man, Mrs. Sanders said the thing she remembered best was that he had "clean black shoes."

Dulles broadened President Eisenhower's two-year-old "open skies" plan in a bid to break the deadlock in disarmament negotiations which opened here 4½ months ago.

"If we can eliminate the threat of surprise attack, I don't think we will have war," he said later in a British TV broadcast.

"We have nothing to conceal. If Russia has nothing to conceal, she will accept the plan. If she has something to hide, she will refuse it."

Zorin Says 'Unfair'

Soviet delegate Valeriy Zorin told the subcommittee Russia will study the plan carefully. He suggested, however, that the plan was unfair to Russia and favored the West in that it did not allow for Soviet inspection of American, NATO and SEATO bases in Japan, North Africa, the Middle East and elsewhere.

Dulles privately viewed Zorin's reaction as "not as bad as had been feared and about as good as had been hoped." An American informant said, Aides quoted him as saying his hurried trip to London on Eisenhower's orders to intercede in the talks of the five-power subcommittee had worked out very well.

Small Business Administration Extended Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation reviving the Small Business Administration and giving it another year's lease on life was hustled through the Senate and House Friday and sent to President Eisenhower.

Technically the SBA expired at midnight July 31 when a bill authorizing its continued existence expired. It was extended by the House on July 31. Since then the agency has been unable to make loans to small businessmen or transact other affairs.

In addition to extending the agency for another year, the bill passed Friday gives SBA 75 million dollars in new lending funds, increasing its total to 530 million.

The Senate agreed by unanimous consent to lay aside the civil rights bill for one hour to dispose of the SBA extension. The extension bill was passed by unanimous vote.

The measure then was sped to the House, which previously had approved permanent status for the SBA. The House accepted the Senate version.

In addition to making loans to small businessmen, the SBA helps them share in government contracts and administers national disaster programs.

A Friend's Fortunes

In mid-September the West Germans will hold one of the most important European general elections of the entire postwar era.

At stake will be the political future of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, long one of the West's stoutest friends.

Very likely in the balance, too, will be West Germany's continued major participation in NATO and its possible future cooperation in the so-called common European market, a program of economic unification.

Defeat for Adenauer probably would elevate the Social Democratic party to power. The Social Democrats have been relatively cool to the idea of strong ties with the West, favoring instead a neutrality they believe may promote early unification of West and East Germany.

Realists feel, of course, that the Soviet Union would simply find new reasons for opposing unity if the Socialists won. In that event, the disillusioned winners might turn as strongly to the West as Adenauer has.

But Western diplomats prefer the certainty of Adenauer's allegiance to the shaky prospect of a Social Democratic regime. The known is always more attractive than the unknown.

What they may well fear as much or more than a Socialist victory, however, is a narrow squeak for Adenauer which would put him at the head of a fragile coalition vulnerable to the first stiff opposition winds.

Word from Berlin is that the Kremlin is hoping for just such a result, since this outcome above all will make difficult the framing and executing of strong West German policy.

Unhappily, the opinion polls taken thus far indicate that a narrow verdict is very much in the cards. Both Adenauer's Christian Democrats and the Social Democrats are showing about the same strength, with roughly a fifth of the voters split among many smaller parties or listed as undecided.

A hair-breadth triumph for Adenauer would not necessarily be disastrous, for the old man's powerful personality conceivably could help him bull through programs in spite of all. But clearly the strain on him would be great and he is already 81. His death while at the helm of so wobbly a government would open the way for grave trouble.

We in America—and the whole Western world—must pray that between now and Sept. 15 the fortunes of Konrad Adenauer advance sharply from their present shaky status.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Would you rather be a successful businessman or a movie star?

At 27 Robert Evans, who looks like a boyish Tyrone Power, has decided to try to be both—a career executive in the women's sportswear field and a matinee idol.

"After all, why not live a diversified life?" he asked, leaning back in a beige leather chair in his skyscraper office in Manhattan's teeming garment center. "It makes for a more rounded person."

A year ago Bob, who is tall, dark and spectacularly handsome, was happy and successful as a partner in a multimillion-dollar women's sportswear firm. Then Hollywood beckoned—and it won't let him alone.

He has appeared in two films and Harry Zanuck, gambling on him as a future star, signed him to an exclusive contract. He is the first new talent Zanuck, who manufactured many a celluloid celebrity in the past, has put under contract since leaving Twentieth Century-Fox to become an independent producer.

The possibility of one of its junior magnates replacing Clark Gable has stirred the imagination of clothing industry workers along Seventh Avenue here as nothing since, perhaps, the invention of the elastic brassiere.

It all happened—or so the script goes—as the result of two unbelievably lucky breaks.

The first break: Some eight months ago Norma Shearer saw Evans relaxing in the Beverly Hills hotel swimming pool. Struck by his resemblance to her late husband, producer Irving Thalberg, she asked if he'd like to play the role of Thalberg in "The Man of a Thousand Faces." Evans did.

The second break: A few months later Zanuck saw Evans in a New York night club. He had no idea who he was, but tracked him down and asked if he'd like to play the role of the playboy in the film adaptation of Ernest Hemingway's novel, "The Sun Also Rises." Evans did.

As a matter of fact, Bob had appeared on more than 300 radio programs as a child actor but a youthful illness forced his retirement. When he recovered a year later, he found theatrical jobs hard to find, so he entered the textile field.

In a few years he and his partners—his older brother, Charles, and designer Joseph Picone—achieved a success that can be termed mildly colossal. Their North Bergen, N. J., factory has 500 employees.

Bob, who is a bachelor, likes to swim, box, play tennis and ride horseback. He isn't at all worried that as a serious, both-feet-on-the-ground young businessman he will fall victim to Hollywood's after-dark temptations.

"Why, I even cook most of my own meals because of my aversion to going out," he said. "I like to stay home in the evenings."

In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON

(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One of the best directors of children in the business today is a onetime child star—Sidney Miller.

Sidney, now directing for Walt Disney on both movies and TV (he directs the Mouseketeers), appeared in better than 300 movies, from the first talkies onward.

Before that, he had worked on the Children's Hour, a famous radio program, in New York City. "My mother and I used to take the train every Sunday from our home town of Shenandoah, Pa., to New York. One day a Warner's talent scout said Hollywood was looking for young boys for 'Penrod and Sam.'"

"So mother and I came out on the train to Hollywood. I carried my guitar all the way. We arrived here and I went to the casting office myself. I can remember the casting director asking me what my name was."

"Instead of answering, I whipped out the guitar and started singing. For some strange reason, she said she had a part for me. It was as a Catholic altar boy in a religious procession scene."

"I carried the crucifix at the head of the procession and kept thinking how I had just had my Bar Mitzvah a few weeks previously."

He got the part in "Penrod and Sam" too, and from there went into many notable pictures, such as the "Mickey McGuire" series with Mickey Rooney and later "Boy's Town" with Rooney.

Sidney also recalls another series he played in for Educational Pictures, a studio no longer in existence.

"The stars were Junior Coughlin and me. Then they added a cute three-year-old girl as Junior's kid sister. She was really cute and I can remember the director and the producer arguing."

"The director wanted to put the kid under contract at $50 a week. The producer couldn't see it. He said: 'Another year and the kid will grow out of that cuteness.'"

Before she had grown out of it, she was ten years later, she had made herself and the old Fox Studio millions of dollars. The cute little kid, of course, was Shirley Temple.

★ DR. JORDAN ANSWERS ★

SOME PEOPLE ARE HYPERSENSITIVE TO BITES OR STINGS OF INSECTS

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

Bites or stings can constitute a nuisance—or worse—as indicated in today's first letter.

Q—For the past two summers some sort of insects just barely visible seem to bite me mostly on the legs. They draw blood, and as a result I have marks on my legs the entire summer. I know they are not mosquitoes but seem like tiny black things. Can you supply an answer?—Mrs. D. D.

A—It is hard to tell what particular kind of insect is responsible for these bites. I know that in the northwoods one is frequently troubled by small flying insects commonly called "no-see-ums."

In this kind of problem I should think the best thing to do would be to experiment with some of the insect repellents. One has to be careful that the chemicals contained in these substances do not irritate the skin. They should be used cautiously at first and not longer than necessary. It is also true that some people become hypersensitive to insect bites or stings.

Q—I suffer often from cracks in the corners of my mouth. I do not wet my lips, and apply creams every night. It is annoying and I cannot open my mouth to eat without pain. Could this be the result of a lack in a certain vitamin?—S. K.

A—A vitamin lack is one possibility. However, one should also want to consider the possibility of some sensitivity or allergy, or perhaps a local disorder of the skin itself.

Q—Would you please comment on cracking knee joints in a girl 20 years old who has had this condition since her teens?—Mrs. C. Y.

A—If there is no pain or swelling in the knees it is probable that this is simply the noise made when certain ligaments pass over the cartilage of the joint. This is not really an abnormality nor anything to become concerned about.

Of course, if the young lady has any other symptoms in her knee joints, she should be carefully examined.

Q—I should like to know in what kind of illness a person is required to drink an atomic cocktail containing radioactive iodine?—Mrs. G. N.

A—This method of treatment is used for some patients with toxic goiter. In carefully selected patients it is extremely useful and sometimes makes it possible to avoid removing the thyroid gland by surgery.

Q—Does drinking from two to three cases of beer constitute drinking too much alcohol? What, if any effect, does it have on a person's health?—Reader.

A—The inquirer does not state whether the beer is consumed in a couple of days or a couple of months. Beer disagrees with some people and apparently does not bother others much. In addition to the alcohol, which is a food, it contains other calories, so that beer is fattening.

Make Friends

If you are invited for a weekend in the country and don't know just what kind of clothes and sports equipment to take, ask your hostess. It is better to be sure than to make a wrong guess.

For if you don't have what you need, your hostess will feel she must try to supply it.

Papa's Vacation at Home Means No Rest for Mama

Papa decided to take his vacation at home this year, which means that Mama isn't getting any vacation at all.

The housework doesn't just go on as usual. It's a little heavier with a man at home all day.

The cooking goes on just the same, but with one difference: lunch isn't a snack but a real meal, with Papa home.

When Mama's friends telephone to ask if she can stop by for a cup of coffee or meet them downtown for lunch, Mama explains "I wish I could—but Joe's home on vacation and I can't just go off and leave him."

Of course, if Papa gets a chance to play golf or go fishing, he takes of with a cheery goodbye.

With Papa on vacation, there are innumerable jobs started—but few finished. And it is amazing how much of waiting on him it takes to keep a husband at the simplest kind of do-it-yourself job.

It's also amazing how upset Papa can get over finding that Junior has misplaced the hammer or used the boards meant for cupboards to build a tree house.

HOW MAMA NEEDS ONE

Life at home with Papa on vacation isn't quite the carefree, happy time it is supposed to be—not from Mama's point of view.

Just a little matter like keeping the neighborhood children from racing through the house or yelling in the yard while Papa gets an afternoon nap is quite a chore.

After two weeks at home Papa may possibly go back to his job refreshed—but Mama's had it.

And "it" decidedly does not refer to a vacation. After Papa's vacation at home, Mama really needs one.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower angrily told his news conference Wednesday he would never consider appointing anyone recommended on the basis of a political contribution.

Of the 36 ambassadors he has named since the 1956 elections, seven contributed cash to the Republican campaign and one gave money to the Democrats. This writer can find no record of where the other 28 made a contribution to either that year.

The presidential anger was the last link in a chain of events that came to a climax after he had given an ambassadorial appointment to Maxwell H. Gluck, a rich women's-wear chain-store owner and breeder of race horses. Gluck contributed $26,500 to the Republicans in 1956, according to published records.

Sometime this year, it seems, he got the idea he'd like to work for the government. He says now, "I wanted to do some good." He was surprised, he said Wednesday, that Eisenhower appointed him ambassador to Ceylon.

But the events began four months ago when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which had never heard of Gluck at that time, wanted to strengthen Secretary of State Dulles' hand in requesting the appointment of unqualified men for key posts in the Foreign Service. The committee wrote a letter to Dulles.

It said: "It is generally known that presidents and secretaries of state of both political parties have been under pressure from those who feel that an ambassadorship is a reward for past services or help."

The committee chairman, Sen. Green (D-R.I.), said, "We should have first-rate ambassadors in every post." Nothing more was heard of this as the months passed. In June Eisenhower named Gluck to the ambassador's job in Ceylon.

In July Gluck had to appear before Green's committee, which passes on appointments like Gluck's. But the trouble with Gluck, as it turned out, was that he failed to do his homework.

He said he may have given as much as $30,000 to the Republican campaign, but he couldn't pronounce the names of the prime ministers of India and Ceylon. This got so much publicity that Eisenhower was asked at his news conference Wednesday: "Were you aware when you nominated Mr. Gluck to be ambassador to Ceylon of either the extent of his contribution to the Republican party or his now record of ignorance of affairs in that part of the world?"

That's when Eisenhower blew up, denied political contributions had any connection with appointments, and said a "number of people I respect" had highly recommended Gluck.

The new ambassadors—besides Gluck—who contributed to the Republicans in 1956 were American businessmen without previous experience in the diplomatic service. They and their posts are:

John Hay Whitney, millionaire financier (London); A. M. R. Houghton, former board chairman of the Corning glass works (France); James D. Zellerbach, paper manufacturer (Italy); John Clifford Folger, head of a brokerage firm (Belgium); Earl E. T. Smith, Florida real estate dealer (Mexico); and Joseph S. Farland, former consultant to the State Department on foreign aid, (Dominican Republic).

The eighth ambassador who made a political contribution in 1956—but to the Democrats—was David K. E. Bruce, who was sent to West Germany. He had previous experience. He was ambassador to France under President Truman.

Early in Eisenhower's administration, Bruce was ambassador to the European Coal and Steel Community and served as a member of the President's board of consultants on foreign intelligence activities.

Eighteen of the 36 new ambassadors were from the ranks of career officers—State Department employees who are making diplomacy their life's work. The other 18, including those already named, were from business; from State Department jobs to which they had previously been appointed but not as career men; or from other government jobs.

P. S. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved Gluck and so did the full Senate. He's now ambassador to Ceylon.

Fat Cat Ambassadors Give U. S. Number of Advantages

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Wiley Buchanan, State Department's chief of protocol, took this writer to task the other day—in a nice polite way—for a recent column on the appointment of political fat cats at U.S. ambassador over-seas.

The piece had pointed out that 17 of President Eisenhower's ambassadorial appointees had donated nearly a quarter of a million dollars to the GOP treasury in 1956.

There was another side to this story, said Buchanan. Ambassadors weren't appointed just because they had made big contributions to the political party in power. And they weren't appointed just because they were rich men who could entertain and put on the social dog in a way that career U.S. Foreign Service officers cannot afford to do.

BUCHANAN, OF COURSE, is in a position to know about these things. He was President Eisenhower's ambassador to Luxembourg from 1953 to 1956. He was not a career diplomat. His previous government experience had been seven years as an administrator in the machine tool section of various defense production agencies in World War II and the Korean war.

Any self-respecting striped pants diplomat might look down his cane at any such background as training to represent the U.S.A. abroad. But Buchanan—as a well-to-do and personable young Texan with a charming wife, to put everything conservatively—had been for Ike in 1952. And so he became ambassador.

An embassy staff often prefers a noncareer ambassador over a chief of mission out of the Foreign Service, Buchanan allows. He will do what has to be done and spend what has to be spent—out of his own pocket if necessary—to represent properly the richest country in the world.

THE POLITICALLY APPOINTED ambassador comes in with a fresh American point of view that is a wholesome influence. Many American embassy staff members, though expertly competent, have served overseas so long that they are foreigners.

Sheriff Home From Convention Of Association

Sheriff Jack Andrews has returned from Waukegan, Ill., where he attended the annual meeting of the Illinois Sheriff's Association, held two days this week at the Kercher hotel. There was an attendance of several hundred sheriffs, former sheriffs, and deputies.

Sheriff Andrews said the association is preparing to acquaint citizens with an amendment which will be submitted to the people in a referendum in November, 1958, by which sheriffs and county treasurers may succeed themselves in office.

Convention speakers asserted that a change in the law has numerous advantages, particularly by building up experience among Illinois sheriffs. Under the present law, it was pointed out, most sheriffs spend two years acquainting themselves with their duties for a four year term, after which they must automatically step out of office.

Coordination of law enforcement agencies and other important subjects were discussed at the convention.

One of the entertainment features was a trip to Milwaukee, Wis., where the sheriffs witnessed a baseball game between the Braves and Giants.

FRONT and CENTER!

Front and center in this little community stands the Church.

Your church may not be so centrally located but all that it stands for is front and center in your community life:

The worship of the God who made us and all that exists...

The teaching of love and unselfishness as the highest good for all men...

The preaching of the worth and dignity of each individual...

The motivation for service in the community...

The battle against evil in high places and low...

Your community needs the Church and all that it stands for—front and center! And the Church needs you!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Boyd Wins Split Decision Over Willie Vaughn

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobby Boyd, 23-year-old Chicago middleweight contender, Friday night won his second split decision over Willie Vaughn, 24-year-old Los Angeles boxer, in their 10-round main event at St. Nicholas Arena.

The 9th rated Boyd came from behind to get the votes of both referee Harry Kessler and Judge Arthur Aldala by a 5-4-1 margin. Judge Frank Fullam called it a draw.

In their previous bout, on May 15 at Chicago, Boyd won a disputed verdict. Boyd weighed 158½, Vaughn 160.

Back To Back Homers Give Yanks 3-2 Win

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees shattered Don Mossi's no-hit bid with back-to-back home runs by Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle in the seventh inning, then beat the sturdy southpaw with a pair of singles in the eighth Friday night for a 3-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

The victory gave the Yankees a five-game lead in the American League race as Boston defeated the second place Chicago White Sox 5-4.

Mossi, a 27-year-old relief ace turned starter because of the Tribe's pitching injuries, had faced the minimum 19 men when McDougald walloped a 2-1 pitch with one out in the seventh. Mantle followed with his 26th home run of the season to tie the score. The Yankees then got rid of Mossi, who suffered his seventh defeat in 14 decisions, when he walked Jerry Coleman on four pitches with one out in the eighth and gave up a looping single to center by Tony Kubek.

Cal McLish came in relief, but was greeted by pinch hitter Harry Simpson's RBI single to left that wrapped it up. New York ... 000 100-2 7 0 Cleveland ... 000 000-10-2 7 0 New York ... 000 000 21x-3 4 2 Mossi, McLish (8) and Nixon; Surdivant, Grim (8) and Berra; W-Sturdivant, L-Mossi.

Newspaper Says Bragan Will Be Fired As Manager

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said Friday night it had learned from a reliable source that Bobby Bragan will be fired Saturday morning as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The newspaper quoted the unnamed source as saying Bragan will announce Bragan's firing at a news conference in Chicago where the Pittsburgh club currently is playing the Cubs.

Danny Murtaugh, present Pirate coach and former infielder, will succeed Bragan for the balance of the season, the Post-Gazette said it learned.

Brown reportedly flew to Chicago Friday to see the Pirates play. Pittsburgh lost its sixth straight game, 6-4.

The Post-Gazette story said Brown "reportedly had Bragan's firing in mind for more than a week."

Brown hired Bragan Nov. 2, 1955, and rehired him for another season last Nov. 20.

GOLDEN ELLA MAKES TRACK HISTORY AT FAIRGROUNDS

Golden Ella, a three-year-old pacer, owned and driven by Day Mangus of Kirksville, Mo., broke a track record in the second race of the first race at the Morgan County Fairgrounds Friday afternoon with a winningtime of 2:04 3/5ths seconds.

It was the fastest time ever recorded on the local track. The new mark eclipsed the old mark of 2:05 1/5th seconds set by Belwin Yates during last year's racing program with George Winters Jr. handling the reins.

The Kirksville pacer just missed tying the mark in her first appearance Friday with a winning time of 2:05 4/5ths seconds.

Golden Ella's two firsts earned her the $1,000 purse and a trophy, sponsored by Superintendent of Speed, I. H. Thompson, and assistant Superintendent of Speed, Ellsworth Pires.

Mr. and Mrs. Mangus accept the trophy from Lenabelle Thompson, daughter of the speed superintendent, while Ellsworth Pires steadies the new speed champion in the picture above.

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Roberto de Cienzo, 34, handsome South American, missed the course record by only a stroke Friday with an 8-under-par 64 despite two bogies for the halfway lead in the $25,000 All American Golf Tournament.

De Cienzo, playing only his fourth U. S. tourney this year, fired an opening 69 Thursday and had a 36-hole total of 133. That was 11 under Tam O'Shanter's par and two strokes ahead of Bill Casper Jr., who tacked a 68 onto his opening 67 for 135.

De Cienzo, a native of Buenos Aires and now a pro at Mexico City, raked Tam O'Shanter's 36-36-72 layout for rounds of 33 and 31.

Despite his great round which amazingly included a bogey 5 on the 4th and a bogey 5 on the 13th, De Cienzo still was within reach of a number of veteran shooters, among them Jimmy Demaret, whose 66 gave him 137, and Masters champion Doug Ford, who perked with a 65 for 138. Don Fairfield's second straight 69 notched him at 138 at which Tommy Bolt also was bracketed with his 70 Friday.

The field of 160 was approximately trimmed in half for the remaining two rounds, Saturday and Sunday. The first-round leader, Ed "Porky" Oliver, blew up Friday after an opening 66 and tumbled out of contention with a 3-over-par 39 for his first nine.

Oliver wound up with a 76 and a halfway total of 142 which left him nine strokes off the pace. Paul Harney, who led the pro qualifiers with a 66, fired a second round 67 and took over third place at 136.

BULLISH TREND PUSHES MOST GRAIN PRICES HIGHER

By EARL AYKROID

CHICAGO, (U)— A bullish trend pushed most grain prices higher on the Board of Trade Friday. Wheat futures advanced more than a cent a bushel on further buying by flour mills against sale of spring wheat flour to domestic bakers. Corn was up more than a cent at the close and rice, acting in sympathy with wheat, advanced more than four cents a bushel.

New crop wheat closed 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher, corn 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher, soybeans 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher and rice 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 higher. Dealers said the market was thin and a relatively light supply of buy orders served to keep price levels moving up.

Corporate trading volume increased to $3,370,000 par value on the Big Board from $3,000,000 Thursday.

The number of sheep on hand was insufficient to fully establish price ranges of any one class. Good to prime spring lambs sold from $22.50 to $24.00. Choice ewes brought $5.00 to $6.00.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (U)—Corporate and U. S. government bonds both closed on the upside Friday. Trading was moderately active for midsummer.

Investment quality corporates rallied from their recent slump to lead the upturn, followed by industrials and utilities. Rails were steady. Convertibles generally improved.

U. S. government bonds advanced with gains of more than a quarter-point in some instances. Dealers said the market was thin and a relatively light supply of buy orders served to keep price levels moving up.

Corporate trading volume increased to $3,370,000 par value on the Big Board from $3,000,000 Thursday.

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (U)— Rail shares rallied late Friday, inspiring a stock market to produce enough gains to make the pattern irregular instead of lower.

The upsurge by rails in the closing minutes was the only outstanding feature in a session which was the slowest since March 22.

The tardy recovery was enough to put the list of pivotal stocks ahead on average but it was too late to change the fact that there were more losers than gainers among all listed stocks.

The carriers went ahead as conviction spread in Wall Street that the Interstate Commerce Commission was about ready to give the railroads their requested freight rate increase.

It remained generally a wait-and-see market as it has been most of the week, with no public enthusiasm and trading mostly in the hands of professionals.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 40 cents to $184.70 with the industrials up 20 cents, the rails up $1.30 and the utilities unchanged.

Volume shrank to 1,610,000 shares from 1,660,000 Thursday.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were irregularly lower. Volume totaled 730,000 shares compared with 700,000 Thursday.

Illinois Rural Electric Company Elects Directors

WINCHESTER — The members of the Illinois Rural Electric Co. enjoyed a very successful 19th annual meeting July 30 at Winchester.

There were over 2,000 in attendance, including members of the cooperative and their families and friends. The following directors were elected to represent the members in the management of their cooperative for the next year: J. Longmeyer, president, Greenfield; Walter Strubinger, vice president, El Dorado; Howard Hurrebrink, treasurer, Jacksonville; Leonard Wood, secretary, Jacksonville; Roy Wieneke, Hardin; R. J. Myers, Griggsville; Henry Day, White Hall; V. T. Parks, Pearl; Louis Osterman, Carrollton; H. L. Vortman, Bluffs; Robbie Wallace, New Canton.

The meeting opened with an invocation by Rev. William Seacock, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Winchester. The mayor of Winchester, Horace Walsley, welcomed members of the cooperative to Winchester and invited them to visit the many fine stores in Winchester while they were here.

There followed the business meeting which, in addition to the election of directors, included detailed reports of the cooperative's operations during the past year. F. J. Longmeyer, president of the cooperative, stated in his report to the members that during the year 1956 they had completed the construction of system facilities which provided for capacity in generating plants, substations, transmission lines and distribution lines to meet the ever-increasing load demands of their members through the year 1960, but that the board of directors directed that a new study be made and a long-range plan prepared for providing additional facilities for even larger loads as they develop. This long-range plan will assure the members of adequate power to meet their maximum needs for years to come.

He also stated that the year 1956 was the first year in the history of the cooperative that they had been able to devote full attention to operations, as demands for new extensions had been reduced to a minimum, in view of the fact that service had been extended to over 98% of all the farms within the cooperative's service area. Therefore, early in the year, the cooperative's crews were reduced to the minimum needed for operations and maintenance. These crews have been engaged in a systematic maintenance program which will result in keeping the system in the best possible condition at all times and provides for the cooperative members having the best possible electric service from it.

Mr. Longmeyer ended his report by urging that all members make full use of their electric service and employ it to do all the jobs on the farm which it will do for them, and that if they do the cooperative will be assured of sufficient revenue needed to meet the ever-increasing costs of operation.

Dulles Proposes Open Skies Plan

Under the No. 1 Western plan, Soviet inspectors would be free to fly over U. S. and Allied territory and comb the ground for evidence of warlike activity. Western inspectors would have the same freedom inside the Soviet Union.

Dulles proposed that the plan should apply to all of the United States, all of Alaska including the Aleutian Islands, all of Canada and all of the U.S.S.R., and virtually the whole of Europe excepting the southern parts of Spain and Portugal, Italy, Yugoslavia and Turkey. The European line would be at 40 degrees north latitude.

Cave-In Delays Hawley Search: Misses Sheriff

SUMMIT, Ill. (U)— Sheriff Virgil Ball of Fulton County narrowly missed being buried Friday in a surprise cave-in that halted the search for the body of wealthy Ray Rawley.

Tons of earth fell into the strip coal mine where authorities believe Rawley may be buried in his auto. The cave-in occurred after a giant power shovel had dug into a spoil bank.

Ball said he was walking in the bottom of the pit to inspect a piece of metal that had been uncovered. Suddenly onlookers at the pit shouted: "It's coming." Seeing the start of the avalanche, Ball said, he raced out the north-west corner of the excavation and narrowly missed being buried by the tons of earth that cascaded from the pit's east side.

The cave-in covered the metal, which authorities described as about 10 inches in diameter, shiny and chrome-like in appearance.

The search will resume Monday. Workers will have to dig about two hours before reaching the piece of metal, authorities estimated.

Earlier water seepage hampered workers in the excavation. A big dragline coal shovel had dug 65-feet into the mine tailings, and the trickle of water increased with each scoop of the bucket.

Sheriff Virgil Ball said evidence indicates Rawley, former Woodland Township supervisor from Astoria, Ill., was robbed and his body and auto pushed into a pit at the Key Coal Co. A dragline shovel similar to the one now scooping for his remains probably covered the evidence, Ball said.

Excitement was high at the pit where several youthful concessionaires have begun selling newspapers and soft drinks. Large crowds now follow the excavating and one reporter described the scene as "just like a county fair."

Ball said the shovel will dig to 72 feet. A mine detector earlier gave sharp reaction to metal in the area where the dragline was operating, Ball said. Pumps are being used to control the water seepage.

English Reports His Son Will Die Angers Skelton

EDINBURGH, Scotland, (U)— Comedian Red Skelton brought his ailing son Richard to Scotland Friday. Red was still smarting at the treatment he received in London's press.

"Richard got higher than a kite when he read a headline in London saying he was going to die," Skelton told reporters at the Edinburgh airport.

The 9-year-old boy is firmly convinced he will recover from the blood disease, leukemia. His father shares the belief, although it has been suggested the illness cannot be cured.

Richard's immediate reaction to the headline was, "Let's get out of here," Skelton said.

So the comedian and his wife, with Richard and their 10-year-old daughter, Valentine, cut short what was to have been a five day stay in London and flew up to Edinburgh.

Thursday night the comedian appeared on British television to rebut suggestions in some London papers that his tour of Europe with Richard was a publicity stunt.

He said the news conference he gave in London was not his own idea. He had been told it was expected of him.

Many people, said Skelton, thought he was doing the right thing in showing his son as much as he could of the world.

He reaffirmed his own conviction that the boy will be completely restored to health.

The Skeltons are expected to stay in Scotland about two days. They will fly on to Dublin and from there to Copenhagen before returning to the United States.

U.S. Announces Half-Billion Soil Bank In '58

The amounts to be allotted for other crops will be announced later.

To limit shifting of land from one set of crops to another, the department will set up what it calls a "soil bank base" for participating farms. Generally speaking, the base will be the total of the average of all crops, except hay, harvested on the farm in 1956 and 1957.

To be eligible for a payment, a farmer would have to limit his total harvested acres to the amount of his base minus the number of acres he agreed to retire from production.

For example, a farm which had an average of 200 acres harvested in all crops except hay in 1956 and 1957 would have a soil bank base of 200 acres. If the farmer agreed to take 20 acres of land out of wheat, he would have to limit his total harvested acreage to 180 acres.

County agricultural stabilization and conservation committees will establish bases for individual farms.

The payment for retiring wheat land will average $20.88 an acre compared with $20.84 this year. Farmers with high past average acre yields will tend to get payments above this average while those with smaller yields will get lower payments.

Rates for other crops will be announced later.

The department pointed out that under new congressional action $3,000 will be the maximum amount any one producer will be guaranteed next year. There was no limit this year.

The sign up period for winter wheat will open Aug. 26 and close Oct. 4.

Report Gluck Studied World Affairs Two Years

NEW YORK, (U)— An educator said Friday Maxwell Gluck, newly appointed ambassador to Ceylon, has been studying world affairs for two years and Asia specifically for more than four months.

Gluck's appointment aroused some criticism when it appeared that he didn't know the name of Ceylon's Prime Minister.

Julie Medlock, who helped Gluck bone up, said he's more a victim of his own modesty than of ignorance of Asiatic affairs.

She is executive director of Public Interest, Inc., and vice president of the World Development Council, operated by Benjamin Javits, brother of Sen. Jacob Javits (R-N.Y.) who recommended Gluck as ambassador to Ceylon.

Public Interest, Inc., is a nonprofit research and advisory organization designed to spread information and develop interest in world affairs. World Development Corp. was organized to gather money for foreign investment in line with the State Department's policy of encouraging private enterprise to replace the government's foreign aid program.

Gluck studied world affairs in general, until last March, when he learned from someone in Washington that there was a chance of a diplomatic job, perhaps in Ceylon. Then he started studying Asia from economics to religion.

CATHOLICS TO PRAY FOR RAIN

WASHINGTON (U)— All Roman Catholics in the Washington area have been asked to pray for rain until the drought ends.

The request for a prayer at the end of each Mass was made Friday by the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington.

There has been only about 3 inches of rain here in the past two months, compared with an average rainfall of about 7 1/2 inches for that period.

STAMPEDE AT BLUE SPRINGS

BY GENE OLSON

THE STORY: While Marshall Harvey Blanchard and Pike Am-Johnson were driving into Blue Springs in a buggy, Cole's riding on Pete Horney, who was kidnapped from Harvey's custody.

XVI
The ferry moved away from the south bank, coming back, and I decided I'd better keep away from Nev Hawk. I veered Pilot west and left the ferry for the ford. Near the water I pulled Pilot down and let him pick his way through the rocks. He knew that ford and didn't like it. On the other bank I spurred him to a good run to make sure I didn't lose Crone. Topping a rise, I saw Crone and the two horses black against the gray sweep of prairie.

When I hit the river bank I stopped and let Crone pull well ahead. There was still room between the road and the river but not enough to suit me. All I wanted was to see where Crone was going. If the moon held, I could do that safely some distance back. There was a black spot on the prairie well to the east of the road. I stared at it for a time and decided it was a horse and rider, either not moving or just easing along. I wondered what a rider would be doing over there so late at night. Likely he was thinking the same about me and Birch Crone. I moved out again and started worrying about what I'd do when I hit the Clements' cabins. I considered pulling off to the east of the road. I thought about that rider over there and decided not to. Just too many folks out on the prairie for the middle of the night. It didn't suit me at all.

Pulling out of a dip I saw the buildings on the Clement place. Crone was still 200 yards away from the turnoff and I waited to see what he'd do. If he turned in I was wrong. If he went past I was right.

had a chance to be right. Crone turned into Clements' yard. When I saw him do it I nudged Pilot off the rise and started to move to the road. Then I wheeled him and came back to the rise. I could watch the cabins better from there.

I could see light in one of the cabins. Crone pulled up to the lighted one and got down and went inside. I waited for what seemed like a long time before Crone came out and somebody else, too. I couldn't tell who the second one was. They moved around the horses for a time, loading boxes. Then Crone got back on the pinto and pulled out of the yard, trailing the pack horse.

I headed for the road at a good clip and crossed it and angled east until I hit a creek bottom that I knew would take me past the cabins. Pilot was noisy in the rocks on the bottom so I held him up and let him pick his way on sand. I was a half mile closer to the rider off to the east. That made it close enough to be careful. I held Pilot to the creek until I judged we'd passed the cabins. Then I pulled him west up the low bank. Coming out of the bottom, I saw Crone back on the road, moving toward the fork that cut into Buffalo Basin.

I STARTED after Crone. If he planned to go clear to the county seat, then I'd follow him there.

It seemed like an hour since Crone had left the Clements' place. It could have been that long because he stayed on that road for almost four miles, just single-footing along. If he went another half mile, he'd be south of the breaks and he'd prove me foolish for sure. But he didn't go that half mile. He turned to his right and cut straight for the rocks that were gray lumps to the west. I saw the dark spot of the rider to the east, not far from where I'd seen him before. I watched Crone disappear into the rocks. I held up a while, then headed for the cut. If he wanted to ambush me, there wasn't much I could do to stop him. I'd been careful; he never gave a sign that he knew I was following. That rider to the east saw me for sure but my being out there didn't seem to bother him.

He still bothered me a little but I didn't see anything I could do about him, not after Crone like I was. At the rocks I held up and decided to lead Pilot through. There weren't any trails and you just picked your way around and over and between rocks of every size and shape. Sometimes you'd hit a washed place and you'd have easy going. Next you'd be squeezing through a cut or pulling over a long rock face.

I SET off into the rocks, my rifle in one hand, Pilot's reins in the other. I didn't want to stay close to Crone; I just wanted to see him when he pulled up out of the rocks. I thought I knew a place that would help me do it and I headed for it as best I could, getting some help from moonlight on the light sandstone. Then the rocks were all the world around me and it was like that until I'd picked my way through the light and moon shadow to the ledge I was looking for. I let Pilot's reins drop and crawled up a sharp ridge, slipping once and almost falling, trying not to think about the snakes. On the narrow ledge I turned around and looked north and saw the long reach of the south ridge rising out of the breaks.

Then I saw the shapes of two horses, with a man leading, pull out into dim light at the edge of the breaks and cut straight for a ravine that showed to me as a darker slash in the steep grass slope of the south ridge. I knew that ravine. It had at least a dozen caves up in it and I could find every one of them. In daylight I could find them. At night I didn't know.

Gov. Stratton Comes Over For The Fair, Enjoys Horse Show

Gov. William G. Stratton and Mrs. Stratton were interested visitors to the Morgan County Junior Fair yesterday evening.

They came unannounced, parked their car near the northwest entrance, shook hands with friends and were later directed to the fairgrounds office, where they met President Milton Birdsall and Secretary Glenn Spencer.

Later they attended the horse show as the guest of President Birdsall. They applauded for favorites in each class, and were particularly interested in the ladies five-gaited class.

Their daughter, Sandra, 30, was riding in this class, aboard her favorite horse, Royal Man, a 14 year old veteran of the show ring who can break from a trot to a canter and then into a rack with the most apparent ease, completely without fluster.

Judge Couldn't See Him
The judge, Dick Hadley of Oklahoma City, looked upon the race as Royal Man went through the necessary motions with some things less than rapture and failed to hand over any one of the five ribbons available for the occasion to Royal Man.

Gov. Stratton said that he was mighty happy that his work had arranged itself so he could come over to the Morgan County Junior Fair. He went on to say that the horse show of the evening was "one of the very best that I have ever seen at a county fair."

During the evening Gov. Stratton viewed the many splendid garments modeled by the makers—all members of Morgan County 4-H clubs.

He received a loud ovation when introduced to the crowd by the horse show announcer, W. L. Wallace.

Visited Horse Tents
Before the horse show started Mrs. Stratton waved away offers of transportation and walked across the track midway to the horse tents where she greeted friends and helped Sandra prepare for the evening show.

She and the governor also heard Wayne Walter, young tenor from Virginia, and Boots Brennan and his orchestra. Walter sang "I Believe," "Tommy," and "Love Me Tender," to the piano accompaniment of Miss Charlotte Sweetman of Virginia.

Final Harness Show Promises To Break Record On Fast Track

Today's program at the Morgan County Junior Fair promises to be a good one.

For example, if you like harness horses zipping around the track, yesterday saw a track record lowered, and horsemen say there is a strong possibility that another record will go down today. Veteran showmen declare the track "faster than Houdini."

Track time is 1:30 p.m. There will be plenty of keen competition in tonight's horse show, which features eight stake classes, with added money and trophies. This spirited contest will begin at 7:30 p.m.

A prime feature of today's program will be the first annual 4-H fat stock auction to be held in the show ring around 2:30 p.m.—or immediately after Judge Tex Spitzer of Pleasant Plains has completed the placing of the more than 300 head of beef cattle entered in the show.

26 Head of Steers
Assistant Farm Adviser Bob Walker, who has been making arrangements for the auction, said yesterday that 10 prize-winning fat lambs, 36 head of hogs and 26 head of baby beefs will be sold to the highest bidder in this afternoon's auction.

Bidding strength seems to have been developing during the last few days, perhaps because of the intense heat, and it now seems more than probable that Morgan County 4-H consignors to the sale will receive premium prices for the prized offerings.

The annual parade of blue ribbon livestock scheduled to show before the grandstand Saturday evening will be cancelled, unless the weatherman comes forward with cooler temperatures, says the man in charge, George Wilson.

No Shape to Walk
"Stock in prime, fat condition is in no shape to be walking around in front of the grandstand," Wilson said. "They belong quiet, and fairly cool, in their own stalls and pens. Thusfar, we haven't lost a single head of stock to the heat—and we want to keep it that way."

The final event of the fair will be the appearance of Pee Wee King and his show at 8:30 p.m. Sunday. King, ABC-TV celebrity and Victor RCA recording star, was forced to cancel his main show here, but will be on hand for a single performance Sunday.
